1. John Spicer
2. John
3. Sophomore
4. Computer Science Major
5. My Computer Science guilty pleasure is the novel The Martian by Andy Weir. This is the book that is being released as a major motion picture very shortly. The book gets very technical in several chapters, my favorite of which being when the main character is stranded on Mars, and is forced to communicate in encrypted code with NASA. I enjoy it because it shows real life applications of encryption that are necessary to be used in the professional world.